Sacrificial site on Gudfjelløya

In the Norwegian Automobile association roadbook a sacrificial site on the Gudfjell-island in the Tunsjøen lake in Nord-Trøndelag is described. According to the roadbook the sacrificial site consists of a large shaft into which the lars threw old reideer and also old lars (many years ago)!

The author, his family and Arne Bergan set out to check the site in the end of May 1984.

All they found was a narrow crack about 5 m deep in igneous rocks.
