

Norsk Grotteblad nr 18, Mars 1987

På leting etter Pluras underjordiske løp

Plura.

A rapport from a keen explorer who succeeded in finding the long sought after entrance to the Plura streamway cave which was expected to be a significant cave judged by the tremendous collapses of Trollkirka and Steinugleflåget. The latter has a 30~50 m high rift which leads to a large hall and then on to passages of a total of approx. 350 m. 9/10 of the potential remains to be found, according to the author.