

Gutt forsvunnet

Boy disappeared

Every summer Beiarn municipality arranges an activity week for school children. One day is set aside for a cave visit under the guidance of experienced cavers. One of the children was an eight year old autistic boy whose father came along as a special guard.

After a brief visit to Satisfaction Cave and preparations for returning home, the boy is reported missing. A hectic search is launched. The local bailiff is informed. After an hour the boy is found in good condition on the way home.
