Fjällmötet 2004 i Norska Plurdalen

Fjällmötet 2004 in Norwegian Plurdalen

(The article is written in Swedish. See also NGB no 43.)

The author is a rookie caver who gives glimpses from his 3-week summer caving vacation. The first week was spent in and around the Swedish caves Sotbäcksgrottan and Labyrintgrottan. Kayaks were brought along for wonderful mountain lake paddling.

Next, to Plurdalen in Rana. Guiding in Jordbrugrotta, visit to Øvre Jordbrugrotta, Steinugleflåget – largest Nordic doline ? -, Olafsholet with descent into the 46 m shaft. The clou: The Swedish-Norwegian rescue exercise in Jordbrugrotta.

The author states that the week in Plurdalen by far exceeded his expectations. NGF and Rune Magnusson from SFF get special thanks.

Finally, on to Tjorve with its 18 km. length. On the way Svarthammerhola with its keyhole was visited.
