

Sommerens store opplevelse - 2000 eller "Schrøders gjørmegrotte"

Summer 2000: The great experience, - or "Schrøders mudcave."

This article is connected with the previous one, describing the expedition in year 2000 to Ingeniørgrotta. Marek Vokac and Christian Rushfeldt were determined to go even deeper into the cave. Having tried several entrances, they eventually (after 8 hours!) found the right one, rigging each pit with permanent bolts and ropes. They describe the passage as extremely narrow, wet, cold, slippery and steep, the start of each pitch being a challenge. They returned the same way out.
