

Norsk Grotteblad nr 61, Desember 2013

Under ispluggen i Trollkjerka i Plurdalen

Down under the ice in Trollkjerka in Plurdalen

Trollkjerka has had an ice plug in the bottom for many years, but because of the nice 2013 summer it melted. The 10th of November 2013 a group discovered two pitches. They descended one more pitch and found a sump. The sump belongs to the Plura river. They surveyed from the sump and up and out of the cave.